Choosing the right chin implant – A HANDY GUIDE

The right chin for the right patient

Along with making the face look older, a weak or receding chin can throw other facial features out of balance, such as making the nose appear larger than

ContourFlex™ Gluteal Round Natural Contour Implant

Nicely shaped yet subtle projection

Some people rigorously exercise and diet to achieve a desirable mid-body shape. Yet the now more slender body has also shed the very fat that defines a nicely curved butt.

Others with naturally petite or slighter frames are also absent the fat stores necessary for an aesthetic butt shape.

And still others may simply want a bit more gluteal projection.

The Solution – Implantech's ContourFlex™ Round Natural Contour Implant.

The Round Natural Contour is a lower profile than our original round implant.

Its design enables a more subtle yet well-developed butt shape that may be just the right look for your patient.

And like all of our soft and supple gluteal implants, it provides shaped volume with really is. Conversely, an appropriately sized chin lends a pleasing, more youthful harmony to the rest of the face.

Chin implants are among the most widely used solutions for correcting a weak chin, and Implantech has a broad range to choose from.

However, you can't paint all weak chins and patient desires with the same broad implant brush.

For example, Patient A needs lateral as well as anterior projection, Patient B could use projection in all three dimensions and Patient C would like a slightly upward tilt.

To make it easier for you to select the proper implant for your patient, we've developed a handy Chin Sizing Guide.

Our Guide can help you:

► Choose by Desired Outcome – Table 1 lists all chin implants by Anterior Projection, Lateral Projection or Vertical Height, from smallest to largest.

► Choose by Anterior Projection – Table 2 lists all sizes of chin implants from smallest to largest, regardless of style.

► Other Desired Characteristics – These are helpful suggestions to further guide your decision. For example, if your patient is female, you can likely exclude the square Terino chin styles.
